INTERNATIONAL JOURNAL OF THE SOCIOLOGY OF LANGUAGE

Objective

The International Journal of the Sociology of Language (IJSL) is dedicated to the development of the sociology of language as a truly international and interdisciplinary field in which various approaches – theoretical and empirical – supplement and complement each other, contributing thereby to the growth of language-related knowledge, applications, values and sensitivities. Five of the journal’s annual issues are topically focused, all of the articles in such issues being commissioned in advance, after acceptance of proposals. One annual issue is reserved for single articles on the sociology of language. Selected issues throughout the year also feature a contribution on small languages and small language communities.

Joshua A. Fishman Award 2018

The biannual Award is for the best recently unpublished dissertation on a topic pertaining to the sociology of language. The award, which carries a cash prize of €3,000, is intended to recognize scholars in the early stages of their careers working on sociology of language.

We are delighted to announce that the 2018 winner of the Joshua A. Fishman Award is:

Alexandra Grey. How do language rights affect minority languages in China? An ethnographic investigation of the Zhuang minority language under conditions of rapid social change

Of Dr. Grey’s work our judges said: “it makes a fabulous theoretical contribution” with findings that “decenter all types of sociolinguistic assumptions.”

Upon review a second prize has been awarded to:

Haley de Korne. Imagining Convivial Multilingualism: Practices, Ideologies, and Strategies in DidiXáza/Isthmus Zapotec Indigenous Language Education
