The Journal aims to publish high-quality research papers and case studies by international academics and practitioners that will advance the theory and practice of business management.

It seeks to add value for readers by acting as a gateway to real advances in business management - helping individuals, managers and organizations to improve their strategies, products, services, and business operations to benefit the environment and mankind.

Practice-oriented, empirical research papers in all areas of business management are welcome, without regard to methodological preferences, schools of thought, or political points of view.

Rejection Rate

20%

Editor-in-Chief

Horace HO, Hong Kong Nang Yan College of Higher Education, Hong Kong

Deputy/ Managing Editor

Davey YEUNG, Hong Kong Nang Yan College of Higher Education, Hong Kong

Editorial Advisory Board

Theodore CHEN, Hong Kong Shue Yan University, Hong Kong
Joseph FUNG, Hong Kong Baptist University, Hong Kong
Simon HO, Hang Seng Management College, Hong Kong
John LEUNG, City University of Hong Kong, Hong Kong
Stephen TEO, Auckland University of Technology, New Zealand