

The leading forum for Natural Language Semantics: Natural Language Processing, Cognitive Semantics, Semantic Theory

Journal of Semantics

MANAGING EDITOR Peter Bosch IBM Germany

The Journal of Semantics is the leading international forum for the rapid developments that have taken place over the last decade in the field of natural language semantics. Increasingly, its crucial relevance has been recognized in practically all areas of natural language research. High formal standards have been set as it has striven to meet the growing need for computational and empirical adequacy. This process has been aided by the intense interdisciplinary exchange and co-operation that has simultaneously occurred, setting new standards for the field as a whole and working towards a true integration.

Recent and forthcoming articles include
