IT ALL BEGAN AT PEARL HARBOR.
THE ALLIED-JAPANESE STRUGGLE IN THE PACIFIC

GUEST EDITOR

John T. Kuehn (U.S. Naval War College/U.S. Army Command and General Staff College)

DESCRIPTION

The Japanese attacks on Pearl Harbor on December 7th and elsewhere in the Pacific and Southeast Asia on December 8th 1941 violently brought the United States into direct confrontation with the Axis powers. This started a titanic struggle between the Allied nations and the Japanese Empire that spanned two Oceans thus creating the single biggest theater of the Second World War. It was also the most diverse one as it stretched from the frozen islands of the Aleutians to the lush jungles of New Guinea.

This year we will be commemorating the 80th Anniversary of the attack. We would mark this event with the publication of a Special Issue dedicated to the memory of men and women who fought and perished in the one of the greatest and bloodiest conflicts in history. This edition of Open Military Studies Journal seeks Academics and Scholars interested in this issue. We would like to invite them to publish their works on following topics:

Topics covered by this Special Issue include, but are not limited to:

- War in the Pacific
- Carrier Warfare
- POW treatment
- Greater East Asia Co-Prosperity Sphere
- Bombing of Japan

HOW TO SUBMIT

Please send an extended abstract (maximum 1,500 words) by 31 July 2021 to the guest editor Prof. John T. Kuehn, U.S. Naval War College (jkuehn50@gmail.com).

Submitted abstracts should be in English. The guest editor will evaluate abstracts and will inform authors of acceptance or rejection by 31 August 2021

Full papers should be submitted by 31 October 2021

Authors are kindly invited to register at our paper processing system at: https://www.editorialmanager.com/openms and submit their contribution.

Every manuscript should be clearly marked as intended for this special issue. All papers will go through the Open Military Studies’ high standards, quick, fair and comprehensive peer-review procedure. Instructions for authors are available here. In case of any questions, please contact the Guest Editor (john.kuehn@usnwc.edu) or the Managing Editor (tomasz.grala@degruyter.com).

All accepted works will be published free of any charge.