1. Scope and general policies of the Journal

Comparative Southeast European Studies (COMPSEES) is a forum for scholars in the Social Sciences and Contemporary History. Taking a comparative and multidisciplinary perspective it explores critical processes and societal issues related to the area bounded by the eastern Adriatic, the eastern Mediterranean, and the Black Sea.

COMPSEES is issued four times a year (March, June, September, December), and it is published in print and digitally in open access. COMPSEES publishes English-language articles in the following categories:

- Research Articles – displays of original empirical research
- “Open Section” contributions pertain to other text genres, which are presented under headings such as
  - Commentary
  - Interview
  - Background
  - Policy Analysis
  - Film in Focus
  - Debate
  - Spotlight
  - Book Symposium
  - The Making of...
  - … and others. This is a flexible section allowing us to address more immediately pertinent political, social, cultural, and academic matters.
- Book Reviews

Submissions in the following fields are welcomed:

- Political Science
- Sociology
- Contemporary History
- Anthropology
- Economics
- International Relations
- Law Studies
- Gender Studies
- Media Studies
- Cultural Studies
- … and related disciplines
Peer review COMPSEES is a double-blind peer-review journal. Manuscripts are reviewed anonymously by at least two independent reviewers selected by the Editors or Guest Editors.

Rejection of manuscripts Manuscripts dealing with subjects that have been well studied in the literature, and that do not resolve questions raised by previous studies, or manuscripts that are methodologically underpowered, are likely to be rejected without peer review. Manuscripts are also returned to authors if they do not comply with the Information for Authors.

Unpublished material Submission of a manuscript to COMPSEES implies that the work described has not been published previously, except in the form of an abstract, academic thesis or lecture; that it is not under consideration for publication elsewhere; that publication of the work is approved by all authors and tacitly or explicitly by the responsible authorities where the work was carried out; and that, if accepted, it will not be published elsewhere, in English, German, or in any other language, without the written consent of the Publisher.

Appeals Manucripts that have been declined for publication will be reconsidered only at the discretion of the editor(s). Authors who wish to request reconsideration of a previously rejected manuscript must do so in written form with a rebuttal emailed to the journal editorial office. Authors should explain in detail the reasons why they believe the manuscript should be reconsidered. The new manuscript will receive a new ID and submission date and then undergo peer review.

2. Ethical conduct of research

   For information on plagiarism, please refer to De Gruyter’s Publication Ethics and Publication Malpractice Statement. Please note that COMPSEES uses the check program “iThenticate” to assess for potential overlap in prior publication(s). Any previously published material must be referenced appropriately in the manuscript.

Informed consent The protection of privacy is a legal right that must not be infringed without individual informed consent. In cases where the identification of personal information is necessary for scientific reasons, authors should obtain full documentation of informed consent, including written permission from the given individual or their legal guardians prior to inclusion in the study. The following (or similar) statement should be included in the Materials and methods section: Informed consent was obtained from all individuals included in this study.

Conflict of interest and author contributions A conflict of interest for a given manuscript exists when a participant in the peer review and publication process – author, reviewer, and editor – has ties to activities that could inappropriately influence his or her judgment, regardless of whether judgment is, in fact, affected. Financial relationships with industry (for example, employment, consultancies, honoraria, expert testimony), either directly or through immediate family, are usually considered the most important conflicts of interest. However, conflicts can occur for other reasons, such as financial support of the study, politics or other stakeholders, personal relationships, academic competition, and intellectual passion.

To ensure fair and objective decision-making, authors must declare any associations that pose a conflict of interest (financial, personal or professional) in connection with the manuscript under evaluation. This must be declared during the submission process and also at the end of the manuscript. If you have no declaration to make, please insert None declared. The below mentioned statement should be included before the Reference section (or after the Acknowledgments section, if applicable).

Acknowledgments: (If applicable).

Research funding: None declared.

Informed consent (If applicable): Informed consent was obtained from all individuals included in this study.

Copyright Manuscripts are accepted on condition of transfer of copyright to the publisher. Once the manuscript has been accepted, it may not be published elsewhere without the consent of the copyright holders.

3. Submission of manuscripts

Please submit manuscripts exclusively online at: https://mc.manuscriptcentral.com/compsees
4. Preparation of manuscripts

Language Manuscripts should be written in clear and concise English. Refer to the end of this document for style
At proof stage, only minor changes other than corrections of printers' errors are allowed.

Cover letter Each manuscript should be accompanied by a cover letter containing a brief statement by the authors describing the novelty and importance of their research.

General format and length Type the manuscript (including table legends, figure legends and references) double-spaced using 12 pt font size and 2.5 cm / 1 inch margins. Number all pages.
When you submit your work, please ensure the following:
- The manuscript is complete and uploaded correctly. (The HTML version and the PDF file generated from the submitted files must be approved.)
- The title page contains the full title, short title, the full names of all authors (personal name, middle initials, family name), a 2-3 sentences long bionote for each author, as well as the full address and academic title of the corresponding author. The title page should also report the word count, the number of tables and figures, and whether the submission includes any supplemental material.
- All Figures and Tables have been uploaded and appear correctly at the end of the PDF.
- Abstract, Keywords, List of Abbreviations, Tables and Figures, and captions and legends are included.
- Manuscript is spell-checked and within the word limit for the type of article.
- References are in the correct format and cited sequentially in the text.
- References mentioned in the reference list are cited in the text and vice versa.
- Numbers in the text, tables, or figures use decimal points, not commas.

References Adhere strictly to the reference style of the Journal. All references mentioned in the Reference list must be mentioned in the text, and vice versa. List and number the references alphabetically according to the short form used in the text. Italic and boldface font type in the Reference section is not allowed. List all authors; if the number is 7 or more, list the first 6 names followed by et al. Identify authors by last name first, followed by the authors’ first name(s) initials. Do not abbreviate Journal names. End references without periods. Correct linking of the references is mandatory; mention DOIs, and URLs where applicable.

Refer to the end of this document for detailed examples of references.

Tables Number Tables consecutively using Arabic numerals. Beneath the table, provide a short descriptive caption, column headings, and an explicative legend where applicable. Refer to Tables in the text as Table 1, etc. Use Table
1 (boldface), etc. in the title of the Table.

Figures General requirements: All illustrations must be of reproduction-ready quality (minimum 300 dpi for halftone figures and 1200 dpi for line drawings) and be of good contrast (printing is black-and-white only). When drawing bar graphs, use patterning instead of grayscales. Cite all Figures in the text in numerical order. Indicate the approximate placement of each Figure. Do not embed Figures within the text body of the manuscript.

Supplemental material You may submit Supplemental material, i.e. additional tables, figures, videos, appendices or other additional material (e.g. references) that exceeds the limitation of the article and/or illustrates the contents of your article. Supplemental material should be uploaded as separate file(s) during submission. Within the text, Supplemental material must be cited consecutively and be referred to as Supplemental material (e.g. see Supplemental Material, Figure 1, or Supplemental Figure 1). Supplemental material is subject to peer review as part of the manuscript. If the manuscript is accepted and the Supplemental material is posted online, it will be referenced in the article of the printed version together with the URL where it can be found.

Permissions It is the authors’ responsibility to obtain permission to reproduce original or modified material that has been previously published elsewhere.

5. Post-acceptance

Proofs The corresponding author of an article will receive the proofs in electronic form to check for editing and type-setting accuracy. Major changes to the article as accepted for publication will not be considered at this stage, unless the authors pay for these changes.

As per De Gruyter policy, no author list changes are permitted after acceptance of an article. The De Gruyter production team is instructed to enforce this policy during the production/proofing process.

7. Additional Language Elements

In references, use the original language. Titles in languages that do not use a Latin alphabet must be transliterated using the Library of Congress system.

In English language titles, all words are to be capitalized except articles, prepositions, abbreviations, and conjunctions such as “and” and “or”. In other languages, titles follow the normal orthographic rules for that language.

Be sure you use all diacritical signs correctly (ä, ö, ü, ū, é, è, é, ě, Ĝ, Ć, Ñ, ő, Œ, Ž, Đ, L, Š, Ť, ũ, ŗ, ų, Ÿ, ŕ, ŭ, ŝ, ş, ț, ă, â, î, ŭ ...).

Always give the original names of institutions, including political parties, in parentheses following the English translation. Examples: the Social Democratic Party (Partidul Social Democrat, PSD) in Romania; Poland’s Law and Justice Party (Prawo i Sprawiedliwość, PiS).

Titles of office should be in lower case. Examples: prime minister, foreign minister, president, chancellor Percentages: Use %.

Omissions or explicatory addenda within quotations should be placed in [square] brackets. Addenda should end with your initials [like this, S.R.]. Omissions within a quotation are indicated by an ellipsis (three points) in square parentheses […].

Serial comma: In a list of three or more items, insert a comma before the “and” or “or”.
Examples: red, white, and blue / feminine, masculine, or neuter

British style is preferred, but consistency is most important.

Hyphens: Used to join words together to form compound terms and expressions. The tendency is to use less and less hyphens. Use one form consistently.
Use the non-hyphenated variant where possible, for example: postsocialist, multidisciplinary, sociopolitical, ethnonational, antisemitic, antifascist, postwar.
Words with prefixes are usually written without hyphens, unless there is a collision of vowels or consonants. Examples: predetermine multinational, but anti-intellectual and pre-eminent
Note that ‘cooperate’ and ‘coordinate’ should be spelled without a hyphen.

En-dash rule –
Used to express a connection or relation between words; roughly meaning “to” or “and”.
Examples: Monday–Saturday, but preferably Monday to Saturday / Dover–Calais, but preferably Dover to Calais

Em-dash rule —
To be used as a parenthetical dash. No space is required on either side of the em-dash.
Example: There is nothing—absolutely nothing—half so much worth doing.
Quotation marks

Use double quotation marks, unless you have quoted matter within a quotation—then use single quotation marks. When quoting a complete sentence, place punctuation within the quotation marks. When quoting a word, an expression, or an incomplete sentence, place punctuation outside of the quotation marks.

Examples: Weber saw it as embodying “the typical power of the ‘non-economic’”.

“Do you have any idea what ‘red mercury’ is?”

Quotations: displayed or run on?

Quotations of less than three manuscript lines are run on. Longer quotations are displayed.

Italics: Consistent application of italics is crucial. Use italics sparingly:
- for foreign words (the catenaccio defensive system employed by the Italians)
- for titles of books, journals, films and other self-contained works in the body text (A Christmas Carol, Journal of Modern History, The Times)

Do not use bold print.

Acronyms: Do not use full stops, write: EU, NATO, US, OSCE. Place the acronym in parentheses after the first occurrence of the full term. Afterwards the abbreviation may be used without further ado. Example: The research was carried out by the Economic and Social Research Council (ESRC).

The European Union (EU) is presently undergoing its umpteenth crisis.

Numbers, dates, and units of measure

Separate using commas, not space, in numbers of four digits and more: 1,000 and 250,000.

Use metric measures except where the context makes this unsuitable.

Note that a billion is now understood to mean a thousand million (1,000,000,000 or $10^9$) and not (as formerly in British practice) a million million ($10^{12}$).

Language Style

Avoid parochial references to “this country”, “our legal system”, and the like.

No language that is racist, sexist, derogatory toward a particular religion or creed, or otherwise offensive may be used.

Gender-specific pronouns (he, his, him, and so on) should be avoided if applied to more than one gender. Pluralise the reference (they, them) or repeat the noun.

Do not use the pluralis majestatis (we, our). When the reference is to only one person—the author—use “I” and “my” instead.
