NEW SERIES

PARADIGMS

LITERATURE AND THE HUMAN SCIENCES

Edited by Rüdiger Campe & Paul Fleming
Peer Reviewed

AIMS AND SCOPE This new series presents original scholarly and essayistic work addressing the central status of literature in and for the human sciences. At stake in the monographs and essay-collections are paradigms of literary forms for thinking the human sciences: the knowledge involved in a literary work; how modes of reading and writing shape and depend on an epoch or area of thinking; literature’s affinities and points of resistance to what we call the humanities and the sciences. In other words, the series examines how literature works with and upon philosophy, rhetoric, technology, anthropology, sociology, statistics, economics, history, experimental science, mathematics etc. Paradigms is primarily concerned with German letters, but also includes its European and comparative literary contexts.

All volumes will be published in English and are first reviewed by the series editors followed by a peer review from two academics in the particular area of specialization.
