1. General Rules

A select bibliography is typically appended to each article. Such a bibliography is included in the size limit of the whole article and should cover at maximum 20% of the article. It should list:

- the most important works,
- the most recent reference works from the past decade,
- all literature cited in the article.

New paragraph for each bibliographical entry

Please start a new paragraph for each individual item.

Alphabetical order

All entries are listed in alphabetical order by authors' surnames.

Several works by the same author

If more than one work by an author is listed, please always repeat the author name (i.e., do not use "Id.") and list the entries in date order (oldest first through to most recent).

Title

- Please set titles of books, periodicals and lexica in italics, and titles of articles in "quotation marks" (periods and commas inside the quotation marks).
- Capitalization should follow the original where possible (though note that Headline-Style-Capitalization should be used for English translations of foreign titles).

Places of Publication

- If possible, use the English form of the place's name (see below).
- In bibliographies please use the state abbreviations listed below.

Publisher's Name

The name of the publisher will be omitted.

Translator's Name

The name of the translator will, in most cases, be omitted.

Subsections of Bibliography

The bibliography may be divided into subsections (e.g. primary and secondary).

2. Abbreviations and Spellings

Bibliographical Abbreviations follow S. M. Schwertner's, International Glossary of Abbreviations for Theology and Related Subjects (Internationales Abkürzungsverzeichnis für Theologie und Grenzgebiete (Berlin/Boston 32014) [IATG³].

[For abbreviations of ancient works, please consult the EBR Helpfiles and Guidelines: <http://ebr.degruyter.de>]

US: Places of Publication

In bibliographies, use the following state abbreviations:

Ala.	Ill.	Mont.	R.I.
Alaska	Ind.	N.C.	S.C.
Ariz.	Iowa	N.Dak.	S.Dak.
Ark.	Kans.	N.H.	Tenn.
Calif.	Ky.	N.J.	Tex.
Colo.	La.	N.Mex.	Utah
Conn.	Maine	N.Y.	Va.
D.C.	Mass.	Nebr.	Vt.
Del.	Md.	Nev.	W.Va.
Fla.	Mich.	Ohio	Wash.
Ga.	Minn.	Okla.	Wis.
Hawaii	Miss.	Oreg.	Wyo.
Idaho	Mo.	Pa.

Canada: Places of Publication

In bibliographies, use province abbreviations (e.g., “Alta.” instead of “AB”; “B.C.” instead of “BC”; “Ont.” instead of “ON”; “Que.” instead of “QC”)

Other Places of Publication

A place's English spelling should be used, where the English spelling is in common usage, e.g.:

Cairo	Geneva	Prague	Zurich
Cologne	The Hague	Rome
Copenhagen	Lisbon	Vienna
	Munich	Warsaw

The official spelling of a cities name in a foreign language should be used, where an English spelling is not in common usage.

3. Bibliographical References

I. References within the Text

Bibliographical references in the text should follow the author-date system. Give the author's last name plus page numbers, if necessary. Add the year of publication only if more than one title by the same author is mentioned. Differentiate the year of publication alphabetically if several publications by one author stem from the same year. For page citations from multi-volume works, the number of the volume should be added and separated from the page number by a period.

Sample a:	“(Wellhausen)”	or with page reference:	“(Wellhausen: 55)”
Sample b:	“(Wellhausen 1905)”	or with page reference:	“(Wellhausen 1905: 55)”
Sample c:	“(Wellhausen 1905a)”	or with page reference:	“(Wellhausen 1905a: 55)”
Sample d:	“(Wellhausen 1905, vol. 2)”	or with page reference:	“(Wellhausen 1905: 2:55)”

If a footnote is referred to, add this after the page reference.

Sample e:	“(Wellhausen 1905: 55, n. 3)”
Sample f:	“(Wellhausen 1905: 55, n. 3; 58, nn. 7–8)”

If the author's name is mentioned in the sentence, only add year and page reference.

Sample g:	“Wellhausen (1905) remarked that ...”
Sample h:	“Wellhausen (1905: 316–25) remarked that ...”

If the work is mentioned twice consecutively, add “ibid.”

Sample i:	“The pentateuchal sources project various conceptions from later periods back to Israel's beginnings (Wellhausen 2001: 316–25). Wellhausen concludes: ‘über die Patriarchen ist hier kein historisches Wissen zu gewinnen’ (ibid. : 316).”

II. References within the Bibliography

1. Monographs

Independently published

Sample: Daube, D., The New Testament and Rabbinic Judaism (London 1956).

As part of a series

Sample a:	Beasley-Murray, G. R., John (WBC 36; Waco, Tex. 1987).
Sample b:	Rudolph, W., Joel-Amos-Obadja-Jona (KAT 13/2; Gütersloh 1971).

Edited volumes

Sample a:	Rothstein, E. (ed.), Influence and Intertextuality in Literary History (Madison, Wis. 1991).
Sample b:	Dunn, J. D. G. (ed.), Paul and the Mosaic Law (WUNT 89; Tübingen 1996).

Editions / translations of ancient works

Add the editor(s)/translator(s) of ancient authors or works only if it is not part of a series that is cited with an abbreviation.

Sample a: Apuleius, Rhetorical Works (ed. S. Harrison; New York 1989).

Sample b: Chrysostom, Homilies on the Gospel of John (PG 59; Paris 1862).

Sample c: al-Ghazzali, The Precious Pearl (trans. J. I. Smith; Missoula, Mont. 1979).

Cite by author's name if the author is known, even if the author's name appears in the title. Cite by editor's or translator's name if the author is not known. Only cite by title if neither author nor editor are known (in this case, see below: "Anonymous authors or editors").

Sample d: Aphthonius, Aphthonii Progymnasmata (ed. H. Rabe; Leipzig 1926).

Sample e: John of Antioch, Ioannis Antiocheni Fragmenta ex Historia Chronica (TU 154; Berlin/New York 2005).

"Festschrift"

- Add "FS ..." after the title (not italicized); replace "..." with the name of the honoree (given name[s] abbreviated).
- Separate by a comma "," from the title.
- If already mentioned in the main title, "FS ..." is not necessary.

Sample a: Kratz, R. G. et al. (eds.), Schriftauslegung in der Schrift, FS O. H. Steck (BZNW 300; Berlin/New York 2000).

Sample b: McNamara, R. F. (ed.), Studies in Honor of Joseph P. Brennan (Rochester, N.Y. 1977).

Subtitles

- Omit, unless indispensable.
- If added, separate by a colon ":" from the main title.
- If the subtitle indicates a "Festschrift," "FS ..." will be added (see "Festschrift" below).

Sample a: Gillman, N., The Death of Death: Resurrection and Immortality in Jewish Thought (Woodstock, Vt. 1997).

Sample b: Jacobson, D. C., Does David Still Play Before You? Israeli Poetry and the Bible (Detroit, Mich. 1997).

Original edition

If relevant information, add the year and – if different – place of publication of the original edition in square brackets after the year of the more recent edition.

Sample a: Schalit, A., König Herodes (Berlin/New York ²2001 [¹1969]).

Sample b: Bultmann, R., Das Urchristentum im Rahmen der antiken Religionen (Düsseldorf ⁶1998 [Zurich ¹1949]).

New or revised edition

- Monographs: add the number of the edition in superscript before the year of publication.

Sample a: Schalit, A., König Herodes (Berlin/New York ²2001).

- Lexica: add the number of the edition in superscript after the abbreviation of the title.

Sample b: Blum, E., “Abraham: I. Altes Testament,” *RGG*⁴ 1 (Tübingen 1998) 70–74.

Reprint with different title

Sample: Alt, A., Der Gott der Väter (BWANT 48; Stuttgart 1929) = id., Kleine Schriften zur Geschichte des Volkes Israel, vol. 1 (Munich 1953) 1–78.

Books in English translation

If the cited work is a translation into English, add the bibliographical data of the original edition behind the English entry (separated by a semicolon), preceded by “trans. of.” If the original version is cited but an English translation exists, add the bibliographical data of the English edition behind the original version (separated by a semicolon), preceded by “ET:” (“English Translation:”).

Sample a: Noth, M., A History of Pentateuchal Traditions (Chico, Calif. 1981); trans. of id., Überlieferungsgeschichte des Pentateuch (Stuttgart ³1966 [¹1948]).

Sample b: Alt, A., “The God of the Fathers,” in id., Old Testament History and Religion (BiSe; Sheffield 1989 [= Oxford ¹1966]) 1–77; trans. of id., Der Gott der Väter (BWANT 48; Stuttgart 1953 [¹1929]).

Sample c: Noth, M., Überlieferungsgeschichte des Pentateuch (Stuttgart ³1966 [¹1948]); ET: id., A History of Pentateuchal Traditions (Chico, Calif. 1981).

Works not in Roman or Greek scripts

Titles in scripts other than Roman or Greek (e.g. Hebrew, Arabic, Russian, Chinese, Japanese, etc.) should usually be given in English translation, in Headline-Style-Capitalization, if an alternative English title is provided.

Sample a: Shahar, Y., “The Destruction of the Temple in the Understanding of Rabbi Aqiva and the Fashioning of the Fasts Relating to the Destruction,” Zion 68 (2003) 145–65. [Heb.]

Primary sources (classical or modern religious texts, medieval or modern literary works):

If there is no English title, or it cannot be easily obtained, transliterate the title, then provide a translation in brackets.

Sample b: Bialik, H. N., Shelomoh ha-melekh: agadah [King Solomon: a legend] (Frankfurt a.M. 1923).

Secondary sources (modern scholarly monographs, journal articles, edited volumes):

If there is no English title, or it cannot be easily obtained, transliterate the title, then provide a translation in brackets. For journal articles, transliterate the name of the journal if it has no English title.

Sample c: Maimon, Y.L. (ed.), Sefer Rashi [The Rashi book] (Jerusalem 1955/56).

Sample d: Velner, A., ‘Aseret ha-shevatim [The ten tribes] (Jerusalem 2008).

Multiple volumes

- Sample a:* Holladay, C. R., Fragments from Hellenistic Jewish Authors, 4 vols. (Chico, Calif. 1983–89).
- Sample b:* Holladay, C. R., Fragments from Hellenistic Jewish Authors, vol. 1 (Chico, Calif. 1983).
- Sample c:* Winter, B. W./A. D. Clarke (eds.), The Book of Acts in Its Ancient Literary Setting, vol. 1 of id. (eds.), The Book of Acts in Its First Century Setting (Grand Rapids, Mich. 1993).

Multiple authors or editors

- Sample a (two authors):* Van Dijk, S. J. P./J. H. Walker, The Myth of the Aumbry (London 1957).
- Sample b (two editors):* Epp, E. J./G. W. MacRae (eds.), The New Testament and its Modern Interpreters (Atlanta, Ga. 1989).
- Sample c (three or more authors):* Blass, F. et al., Grammatik des neutestamentlichen Griechisch (Göttingen 2001).
- Sample d (three or more editors):* Keck, L. E. et al. (eds.), Studies in Luke-Acts (Nashville, Tenn. 1966).

Anonymous authors or editors

If author or editor are unknown, begin the entry with the title (ignore articles when alphabetizing titles).
For anonymous reviews, give information about the work being reviewed.

- Sample a:* “Allegorical Interpretation of the Bible,” A Religious Dictionary 1 (New York 31891) 58–59.
- Sample b:* Ergänzungsblätter zur Allgemeinen Literatur-Zeitung. Unsigned review of Geschichten der romanischen und germanischen Völker, by Leopold von Ranke. February 1828, nos. 23–24.

Multiple places

- Sample a (two places):* Berger, P. L., Erlösender Glaube? (Berlin/New York 2006).
- Sample b (three or more places):* Lona, H. E., Kleine Hinführung zu Paulus (Freiburg i.Br. 2006).
[just the first place]

Specific pages/chapters

If specific pages/chapters are to be indicated/recommended, please add these in square brackets after the bibliographical entry itself, preceded by “Esp.” (“Especially”) and with the abbreviation “ch.”/“chs.” for “chapter”/“chapters” (no abbreviation necessary for pages, and no period at the end).

- Sample a:* Berger, P. L., Erlösender Glaube? (Berlin/New York 2006). [Esp. 113]
- Sample b:* Breytenbach, C., “Die Vorschriften des Mose im Markusevangelium,” ZNW 97 (2006) 23–43. [Esp. 31–35]
- Sample c:* Collins, M. A., The Use of Sobriquets in the Qumran Dead Sea Scrolls (LSTS 67; London 2009). [Esp. ch. 5]
- Sample d:* Lona, H. E., Kleine Hinführung zu Paulus (Freiburg i.Br. et al. 2006). [Esp. chs. 2–3]

Forthcoming works

If a work is forthcoming, this should be indicated in square brackets after the reference. If the intended publication year is known, this may be included.

Sample a: Cohen, M. Z., Opening the Gates of Interpretation (Leiden). [Forthcoming]

Sample b: Neuwirth, A., Der spätantike Koran (Frankfurt a.M. 2010). [Forthcoming]

Free-standing items in collected works

If items originally published as free-standing works (such as monographs, novels, and most plays) are subsequently printed in collected works, the titles of the independent works should remain italicized. [Note, however, that most short poems or short stories were originally published in collections, and thus should not be italicized but instead appear within quotation marks.]

Sample a: Beckett, S., The Unnamable, in id., The Beckett Trilogy (London 1979) 265–382.

Sample b: Beckett, S., All That Fall, in id., Collected Shorter Plays (London 1984) 9–39.
