In evaluating the manuscript, please consider the following points (except for manuscripts submitted as New Records or Short Communications, to which several of the points do not apply):

1. The Title should be short and accurate (appropriate for the content of the article).
2. The Summary should state clearly and comprehensively the important points, results and conclusions drawn. It should be complete in itself and suitable for direct inclusion in abstracting journals.
3. The Introduction should contain only relevant background information and state clearly the objectives of the work.
4. The Materials and methods used and the statistical treatment (analysis) of data should be adequate.
5. The Results should be presented in a clear and accurate way. Tables and Figures should be self-explanatory and of a good quality.
6. There should be new information derived from the work and conclusions justified by the results.
7. There should be an appropriate treatment of relevant references.
8. The whole paper should be well-organised and of a balanced length in the various sections.
