Table of Contents

David Herbert and Marie Gillespie
1 Introduction: Social Media and Religious Change — 1

Gordon Lynch
2 Media and the Sacred: An Evaluation of the ‘Strong Program’ within Cultural Sociology — 15

Kim Knott, Elizabeth Poole and Teemu Taira
3 Christianity, Secularism and Religious Diversity in the British Media — 37

Lyn Thomas
4 Religion for a Postsecular Society? Discourses of Gender, Religion and Secularity in the Reception of BBC2’s The Monastery and The Convent — 59

David Herbert
5 Paradise Lost? Islamophobia, Post-liberalism and the Dismantling of State Multiculturalism in the Netherlands: The Role of Mass and Social Media — 79

Rebecca Haughey and Heidi A. Campbell
6 Modern-day Martyrs: Fans’ Online Reconstruction of Celebrities as Divine — 103

Arjen Nauta
7 Radical Islam, Globalisation and Social Media: Martyrdom Videos on the Internet — 121

Nathan Abrams, Sally Baker and B. J. Brown
8 Grassroots Religion: Facebook and Offline Post-Denominational Judaism — 143

Stephen Pihlaja
9 Truck Stops and Fashion Shows: A Case Study of the Discursive Performance of Evangelical Christian Group Affiliation on YouTube — 165

Heidi A. Campbell and Drake Fulton
10 Bounded Religious Communities’ Management of the Challenge of New Media: Baha’i Negotiation with the Internet — 185