EBR pursues a twofold task:

Rendering of the current state of knowledge

- Comprehensive and in-depth
- Origins and development of the Bible in its different canonic forms in Judaism and Christianity

Documenting the history of the Bible’s reception

- Christian churches and the Jewish Diaspora
- Islam, other religious traditions and current religious movements, Western and non-Western alike,
- literature, art, music, and film

Dalai Lama

Brady Whitton

"Dalai Lama" is a title given to the spiritual and temporal leaders of Tibet starting with the Third Dalai Lama, Sonam Gyatso (1543-1588), and including, posthumously, the two prior leaders and those following. Tibetan Buddhists believe each Dalai Lama is part of an unbroken chain of reincarnations of the bodhisattva, Avalokiteśvara. The current Dalai Lama, Tenzin Gyatso (b. 1935), is the fourteenth in the lineage.

traditional Christian scriptures" (Tenzin: 48). He also commented on the "striking stylistic similarities between the Christian and Buddhist scriptures" (Tenzin: 55). The Dalai Lama’s willingness to engage Christian Scriptures reveals his tolerance and respect for non-Buddhist faiths and their texts, but with this openness he also stresses the importance of maintaining the uniqueness of the world’s religions lest we try to reduce everything and then "have nothing left to show that is distinct about our specific traditions" (Tenzin: 73).

Search Help EBR Online

Search
To search the database EBR Online enter your search term(s) into the entry fields in the search form on the left hand side of the screen. Three entry fields are available, each of them is preset with a search criterion. You can select a different search criterion from the list available for each entry field. The result of your search is always an encyclopedia article.

The following search criteria are available:

- Full Text: searches through the full text of all entries in the database. With this search criterion you will receive a multitude of hits because you always search through the full entries. To perform a more targeted search, please use one of the other search criteria.
- Title: with this search criterion you can search titles of articles within EBR.
