International Public History
Style Sheet (March 2018)

Here you will find advice on how to prepare your article for submission. Please note that this style sheet is intended only for the purpose of making your work consistent and formally correct. The layout will be done in a second stage by a professional typesetter.

1. General Points
Please check your material carefully, not only for the correct application of the instructions given here but also, for example for consistency of spelling, hyphenation with prefixes (e.g., “non-essential” versus “nonessential”) and consistent use of phrases (“in the twentieth century” versus “in the 20th century” – we prefer the former).

Note that journal editors are responsible for:
* having the material checked by a professional copy editor or other suitable person, who should also check that all works cited in the text are listed in the reference section.

Note that authors are responsible for:
* using the fonts necessary to print any special characters. Under no circumstances may these be drawn in by hand.
* obtaining written permission for the use of material (e.g., maps, figures) for which the copyright is owned by others.

Final check of your article:
Please check before sending the final version:
* that no pages are missing.
* that all headings as given in the contents correspond exactly to those in the text.
* that the consecutive numbering of all sections, examples, tables, figures, and notes is correct and complete.

2. Capitalization
Capitalize only the first letter of the first word and of proper nouns and adjectives: e.g., “The capitalization of titles in English” = sentence style, (not “The Capitalization of Titles in English”= camel style).

3. Dates
* Use dates in the European date system, e.g. 3 September 2001 or 3rd October 2001.
* Use small caps for AD and BC. Position AD before the year and BC after. Similarly, for CE (Common/Christian Era) and BCE (Before Common Era). Do not contract BC or BCE dates.
* When expressing a decade, use, for example, “1950s” (no apostrophe), except in colloquial usage, e.g. “rocking Eighties”.

4. Orthography
Please use American English only, spelling and punctuation must be consistent throughout.

Numbers
* Numbers up to ten and including ten should always be spelled out in full unless paired or grouped, or with a unit of measurement (including percentages). Numbers between 11 and 99 can either be spelled out or written as numerals, provided the style used is consistent throughout. Ordinal numbers should always be spelled out. Note: “12 year old” but “a 12-year-old girl”, and “in her twenties”, and “in his fortieth year”.
* Numbers less than one should have a zero before the point, e.g. "0.5".
* Insert a comma for thousands and tens of thousands in numbers, e.g. 1,000 and 10,000.

5. Quotations
* Short quotations (fewer than 60 words) should be run on in text and enclosed in double quotation marks. Single quotation marks enclose quotations within quotations.
* Longer quotations should appear as a separate block; they should be small typed and indented.

6. Abbreviations
Write out names of theories, titles of books, or names of publishers. If you want to use abbreviations, explain them and create a list of abbreviations.

7. Typeface, Emphasis, and Punctuation Italics should be used for:
* foreign-language expressions
* titles of books, published documents, newspapers, and journals
Italics may also be used for:
* Drawing attention to key terms in a discussion at first mention only. Thereafter, these terms should be set in roman. However, please keep the use of italics to a minimum.
* Emphasizing a word or phrase in a quotation indicating [emphasis mine].
* Underlining or CAPITAL LETTERS should not be used for emphasis. Also, please avoid bold type.

Quotation marks:
* Single quotation marks should be used for the translation of non-English words, e.g., cogito 'I think'.
* Double quotation marks should be used in all other cases, i.e., direct quotations in running text.
* Use rounded quotation marks ("...") not "straight" ones.
* A translation of a quotation in a language other than the main text should be in square brackets.

Dashes:
* Spaced EN dashes are used as parenthetical dashes. An EN dash is longer than a hyphen, “word – word”. Do not use double hyphens. (Standard WORD shortcut on a PC: CTRL+- [hyphen key], on a Mac: Option+- [hyphen key].)
* Unspaced EN dashes should be used between inclusive numbers, e.g., 153–159.
* Please use EN dashes (not bullets) for lists without numbering.
Periods should be placed before superscript note numbers, e.g., word.7 Spacing: Type one space (not two) after periods, commas, and colons. Brackets: Do not use double round brackets: brackets within brackets should be square brackets.

8. Tables, Figures, and Illustrations
* If there are figures to be inserted which you cannot include, please have them professionally drawn and send us the originals, not photocopies.
* The resolution of images should be 300 dpi, the resolution of graphs at least 1200 dpi.
For more information
* Tables cannot contain lists and should not contain images or dashed lines.
* All figures and tables should be cited in the text and should have a caption/legend.
* Tables and figures should be numbered consecutively throughout an authored work (only number article by article in an edited work).
* Title of a table is to be placed flush left above the table.
* Title of a figure is to be placed flush left below the figure.
* Avoid using tints as this can affect legibility.
* Tables and figures should be numbered by chapters throughout an authored work (e.g. 1.2; 3.5; 12.1).
9. Supplementary material (Images, Media Data, Audio and Video Files etc.)
* Only deliver images to which you hold the copyright, which can be used copyright-free or for which the image copyright has been clearly resolved or settled.
* Please supply all images in unaltered digital or original form (e.g. graphs). Only in this way can we ensure quick and high-quality reproduction. The publication quality always depends directly on the quality and size of the delivered data.
* Naming of the files: chapter/image number (e.g. Fig.5.1.tif).
* Please state the number of color and black/white images in your text.
* Please mark the passages in your manuscript where an image should be incorporated, using a reference that includes the filename.
* Please supply graphics and text separately, i.e. do not incorporate images in the text.
* Images downloaded from the internet are usually not of sufficient quality (since they have only 72 DPI as standard)
* Please supply audio clips for all examples that are associated with an audio recording.
* Please name all of your clips using the following convention: audio-1-smith.MP3, [media]-[identifier]-[author-last-name].[extension]
* Please indicate the position in the article by placing a marker as follows: [associated audio-1-smith.wav with example (1)]
* The following formats are preferred: audio files in MP3 (at least 16 bit) and video files in MP4 (at least a height of 480 pixels and a frame rate of 25). However, other common formats are also permitted

10. References
* The reference section should contain all works cited and only those.
* All works must be listed in alphabetical order.
* Whenever possible give the full first names of authors and editors.
* Initials require periods and have a space between them, e.g., Ronald W. Langacker.
* Arrange all works under a particular author’s name in chronological order. All authored works should be listed first under a name followed by any other categories arranged alphabetically (e.g., edited, translated).
* Give the full title and subtilte of each work.
* Titles of published books and journals are capitalized and italicized.
* Unpublished works, such as Ph.D. dissertations, and the titles of articles in journals or edited works are neither capitalized nor italicized.
* Give the inclusive page numbers of articles in journals or edited works. Do not drop digits in inclusive page numbers (365–392, not 365–92); give page number in full, do not use “f.”, “ff.”.

Cross-references
* We prefer cross-references to sections within the text instead of page numbers; this is only possible if heads are numbered.
* If cross-reference is needed, do not use “see above” or “see below” either, but add the section or chapter instead. References to section numbers within the article should include the capitalized word "Section" followed by the section number (omitting the final full stop): e.g., “see Section 4.2”.

Citation Style: Chicago Manual of Style: - Notes and Bibliography Style
Please follow the Chicago Manual of Style. The following examples illustrate the most frequent cases. Examples of notes are followed by shortened versions of citations to the same source. Please note that there are different citation styles for bibliographic details in footnotes and bibliography. The examples show the footnote style first, followed by the style for the bibliography:

One author
2. Pollan, Omnivore's Dilemma, 3.

BIBLIOGRAPHY:

Two or more authors

BIBLIOGRAPHY:

For four or more authors, list all of the authors in the bibliography; in the note, list only the first author, followed by et al. ("and others"):
1. Dana Barnes et al., Plastics: Essays on American Corporate Ascendance in the 1960s...
2. Barnes et al., Plastics...

Editor, translator, or compiler instead of author
2. Lattimore, Iliad, 24.

BIBLIOGRAPHY:

Chapter or other part of a book

BIBLIOGRAPHY:

Chapter of an edited volume originally published elsewhere (as in primary sources)

BIBLIOGRAPHY:
Preface, foreword, introduction, or similar part of a book
2. Rieger, introduction, xxxiii.

BIBLIOGRAPHY:

Book published electronically
If a book is available in more than one format, cite the version you consulted. For books consulted online, list a URL; include an access date only if one is required by your publisher or discipline. If no fixed page numbers are available, you can include a section title or a chapter or other number.

BIBLIOGRAPHY:

Article in a print journal
In a note, list the specific page numbers consulted, if any. In the bibliography, list the page range for the whole article.

Article in an online journal
Include a DOI (Digital Object Identifier) if the journal lists one. A DOI is a permanent ID that, when appended to http://dx.doi.org/ in the address bar of an Internet browser, will lead to the source. If no DOI is available, list a URL. Include an access date only if one is required by your publisher or discipline.

BIBLIOGRAPHY:

Article in a newspaper or popular magazine
Newspaper and magazine articles may be cited in running text (“As Sheryl Stolberg and Robert Pear noted in a New York Times article on February 27, 2010, . . .”) instead of in a note, and they are commonly omitted from a bibliography. The following examples show the more formal versions of the citations. If you consulted the article online, include a URL; include an access date only if your publisher or discipline requires one. If no author is identified, begin the citation with the article title.

BIBLIOGRAPHY:

Book review

Thesis or dissertation
2. Choi, “Contesting Imaginaires.”

BIBLIOGRAPHY:

Paper presented at a meeting or conference

BIBLIOGRAPHY:

Website
A citation to website content can often be limited to a mention in the text or in a note (“As of July 19, 2008, the McDonald’s Corporation listed on its website . . .”). If a more formal citation is desired, it may be styled as in the examples below. Because such content is subject to change, include an access date or, if available, a date that the site was last modified.

3. “Google Privacy Policy.”

BIBLIOGRAPHY:
Blog entry or comment

Blog entries or comments may be cited in running text ("In a comment posted to The Becker-Posner Blog on February 23, 2010, . . .") instead of in a note, and they are commonly omitted from a bibliography. The following examples show the more formal versions of the citations. There is no need to add pseud. after an apparently fictitious or informal name. (If an access date is required, add it before the URL; see examples elsewhere in this guide.)

BIBLIOGRAPHY:

E-mail or text message

E-mail and text messages may be cited in running text ("In a text message to the author on March 1, 2010, John Doe revealed . . .") instead of in a note, and they are rarely listed in a bibliography. The following example shows the more formal version of a note.

In this case, the interview has no title, the way an article or book chapter does. If the interview had a title, it would be included in parentheses in between Darcy Steinke's name (as interviewee) and Sam Tanenhaus and Dwight Garner's names (as interviewers).
