Contents

List of Figures
- vii

List of Tables
- xvii

List of Plates
- xxiii

Preface
- xxvii

Contributors
- xxxi

---

Chapter 1. Introduction

Maya Ethnomedicine as Science
- 3

Research Setting
- 4

General Overview of Maya Ethnomedicine
- 52

General Overview of Healing Principles of Medicinal Plants
- 60

Introduction to the Gastrointestinal Conditions
- 67

Conventions Employed in the Presentation of Data on Ethnomedicine
- 78

Medical Ethnobotany and Ethnopharmacology of the Major Medicinal Plants Used to Treat Gastrointestinal Conditions
- 80

Notes
- 89

---

Chapter 2. The Diarrheas

Terminology
- 91

Watery Diarrhea
- 93

Mucoid Diarrhea
- 160

Bloody Diarrhea
- 186

Droplet Diarrhea
- 236

Lienteric Diarrhea
- 249

Vomiting and Diarrhea
- 256

Vomiting
- 265

Other Conditions Affiliated with the Diarrheas
- 278

Notes
- 280

---

Chapter 3. The Abdominal Pains

Terminology
- 281

Abdominal Pain
- 284

Epigastric Pain
- 326

'Mother of Man'
- 344
Abdominal Distension 368
Intestinal Obstruction 386

Chapter 4. The Worms 400
Terminology 400
Regular Worms 401
Flat-Headed Worms 419
Tiny Worms 427
Rectal Prolapse 432

Chapter 5. Summary and Conclusions 438
The Gastrointestinal Conditions 438
Medical Ethnobotany and Ethnopharmacology of the Major Medicinal Plants Used to Treat Gastrointestinal
Conditions 445
The Pharmacological Significance of Herbal Admixtures 448
Perceived Medicinal Virtues of Plants 449
Note 454

Appendix: Pharmacological Activity of Plant Species Used as Admixtures 455

Glossary of Technical Terms 471
References 485
Index of Maya Terms 501
General Index 513