PART I. THE PROBLEM AND ITS SETTING

1. Introduction 3

2. Problems and Prospects for Arms Control in the Arab-Israeli Conflict 11
   Enduring Elements of Military Instability 12
   Strategic Impact of the 1973 War 16
   Across the Nuclear Threshold? 25
   The Outlook for Arms Control 35

3. Multilateral Approaches to Arms-Transfer Limitation 44
   The Relevance of Arms Control 45
   Past Multinational Efforts to Control the Transfer of Arms 50
   Regional Arms Control 57

4. Supply and Control: Arms and the Tripartite Declaration of May 1950
   The Background of Policy 65
   The “Pentagon Talks” of 1947 69
   Territorial Guarantees and Regional Security 72
   The Arms Issue 80
   The Declaration Takes Shape 88

5. Operational Aspects of the Arms Control System 96
   Western Arms Supply Policies, 1950–1955 96
   The Near East Arms Coordinating Committee 107
   The “Arms Balance” 115
   The Regional Impact of the Tripartite Policy 121

6. Arms for Egypt: The Litmus Test 128
   Nasser’s First Bid for U.S. Arms: The Sabri Mission 130
   Promises to Keep: Nasser’s Second Bid 144

PART III. CONCLUSIONS

7. The Use and Misuse of Arms Control 175
   Basic Shortcomings of the Tripartite Regime 176
   The Politics of Arms Control 180
   In Search of Strategic Stability 184

Selected Bibliography 193

Index 206