ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

The authors wish to express their indebtedness to the Spectator Ltd. and to the authors for permission to reprint “A New Disease” by Dr. Ffrangcon Roberts, “The Canadian Dilemma” by Desmond Henn, and “The Abbey’s Needs” by John Laird; to Professor A. J. M. Smith of Michigan State University and to the Queen’s Quarterly for permission to reprint “The Refining Fire” (parts of Professor Smith’s essay have been used in M. L. Rosenthal and A. J. M. Smith, Exploring Poetry, published by the Macmillan Company, New York); to Peter Winch of the University College of Swansea and to the Universities Quarterly for permission to reprint “The Universities and the State”; and to Professor R. S. Knox of University College, University of Toronto, and to J. Douglas Frame, an undergraduate in the same College, for permission to print for the first time the essays which appear under their names.

The Undergraduate Essay was originally prepared for use in the Department of English, University College, University of Toronto. The authors are particularly indebted to two members of this Department, Professor A. S. P. Woodhouse and Professor F. E. L. Priestley, for advice and assistance during the initial stage of planning and in the course of three revisions. Their greatest debt is to Professor Edwin Rhodes, now of Magee University College, Londonderry, whose labours in preparing the first draft were as extensive as their own.
