Contents

List of Illustrations ix
Preface and Acknowledgments xi

1 Introduction: The Enlightenment—Questions of Geography 1
   The Enlightenment—Questions of Definition 2
   Where Was the Enlightenment? Questions of Geography 6

PART ONE Geographies of the Enlightenment

2 The Enlightenment in National Context 25
   National Enlightenments? 27
   Enlightenment Margins? 35

3 Above and beyond the Nation: Cosmopolitan Networks 42
   The Enlightenment as a Republic of Letters 45
   Book Geographies: Translating and Receiving Enlightenment Knowledge 50
   Artifacts and Instruments: Collecting and Displaying the Enlightenment 57

4 Doing Enlightenment: Local Sites and Social Spaces 62
   The Enlightenment Locally: Sites of Practice 63
   Improving Spaces: Learned Academies and Scientific Societies 67
   Talking Places: Coffeehouses, Pubs, and Salons 76

PART TWO Geographical Knowledge and the Enlightenment World

5 Exploring, Traveling, Mapping 87
   Encountering and Imagining 88
   Mapping and Inscribing 99
   Envisioning and Publicizing 108
6 Encountering the Physical World
   Putting the Earth to Shape 114
   Ordering the World of Plants 122
   Of Flood, Fire, and a Dynamic Earth 125
   On Oceans, Climate, and Meteorology 129

7 Geographies of Human Difference 136
   Physical, Moral, Natural? Explaining the World’s Human Geography 139
   Conjectural Histories, Actual Geographies: Stadial Theory and Human “Progress” 148

PART THREE  Geographies of Human Difference

8 Geography and the Book 167
   Geographies of the Encyclopédie 169
   Geography’s Books and Textual Traditions 178
   Enlightenment Geography and National Identity: Jedidiah Morse,
     American Geography, and the New Republic 187

9 Geography in Practice 193
   Mapping and Measuring: Mathematical Cosmography,
     Military Geography, and the Capacity of the State 195
   Geographies of the Enlightenment Map World 201
   Diseases, Quadrupeds, and Moral Topography:
     The Environment for Medical Geography 204

10 Spaces and Forms of Geographical Sociability 213
   Knowing Places: Geography in the Learned Academies 216
   Teaching Spaces: Geography in Enlightenment Universities 220
   Geography’s Public Places 226
   Domestic Geographies and Practical Instruction 230

11 Conclusion: The Enlightenment—Questions of Geography 234
   The Enlightenment—Geographically 235
   The Enlightenment’s Future Geographies 238
   The Enlightenment—Our Geographical Contemporary 240

Notes 243
Bibliography 273
Index 315