Full Faith and Credit
Full Faith and Credit, the Lawyer's Clause of the Constitution, is the fourth annual Benjamin N. Cardozo Lecture, delivered December 7, 1944, before the Association of the Bar of the City of New York, under the auspices of its Committee on Post-Admission Legal Education.

The memory of Benjamin N. Cardozo's life, it is hoped, may be revered and forever shared by the members of this Association and of our profession generally, who may reap from it "something far more precious than pride in his accomplishment and the suggestion of claiming him as our own, namely, that spiritual harvest which comes from the example of an unblemished character," a rare character that radiated goodness, that was inspired by a love for the law, a passion for justice and a sympathy for humanity. —From the Report of the Committee on Post-Admission Legal Education of the Association of the Bar of the City of New York, March 15, 1940.

Other lectures in the series are: The Influence of Judge Cardozo on the Common Law, by Irving Lehman, LL.D., Chief Judge, Court of Appeals, State of New York, 1941; Reason and Fiat in Case Law, by Lon L. Fuller, J.D., Professor of Law, Harvard Law School, 1942; The Personality of the Judge, by Bernard L. Shientag, LL.D., Justice, Supreme Court, State of New York, First Judicial District, 1943.
