Contents

Preface

1. The Origins of American Social Policy 19
2. Casework and the Emergence of Social Work as a Profession 43
3. The Construction of the Welfare State 78
6. Kennedy, Johnson, and the Great Society 158
8. The Next Phase 209

Notes 234
Index 265
A house divided against itself cannot stand.
Abraham Lincoln, 1858

Two souls, alas! are lodged within my breast.
Which struggle there for undivided reign . . .
Johann Wolfgang von Goethe, 1808
(trans. Anna Swanwick)